Optimising Venous Leg Ulcer Guideline implementation: Closing the Gap

Professor Carolina Weller is research director and NHMRC TRIP fellow at the School of Nursing and Midwifery. Carolina trained as a nurse specialising in emergency medicine and wound care. In addition to her clinical qualifications in nursing and extensive contributions to higher education and health policy, Carolina completed her PhD in Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine investigating healing outcomes in people with chronic wounds. She is one of Australia's leading researchers with a focus on cardiovascular disease, wound management, quality improvement and translation into clinical practice. She is recognised internationally for her epidemiological and health service research approaches.

Carolina is chief investigator of The ASPirin in Venous Leg Ulcer healing randomised double-blind multicentre placebo-controlled clinical trial will determine whether 300mg daily aspirin improves venous leg ulcer healing in adults.

Study website: www.med.monash.edu.au/sphpm/aspivlu-study.html.

Carolina's NHMRC TRIP fellowship 'Facilitating Venous Leg Ulcer Guideline implementation: Closing the Gap' will identify gaps between research evidence and clinical practice, explore barriers and enablers of implementation of evidence using a validated four-step systematic method to develop an intervention designed to change clinical practice.

Carolina has extensive experience in teaching, course development and coordination in Evidence Based Practice, Quantitative Research Designs and Methods, Research Strategy, Leadership and Wound Management across health disciplines.

PEOPLE NEWS

Congratulations to Sameh Mortaz Hejri for successfully defending her Master's thesis.

Congratulations to Kristin Danko for submitting her PhD thesis Methods for optimizing evidence syntheses of complex interventions: Case study of a systematic review and meta-analysis of diabetes quality improvement trials.

She defends her thesis on September 26.

Kristin is now at the Centre for Evidence Synthesis in Health at the Brown School of Public Health for a postdoctoral fellowship.

Farewell to Xioaqin Wang, visiting PhD student from China who spent a year at the Centre for Implementation Research.
Xioaqin's last day is on Friday September 28, 2018
