Dr. Melissa Brouwers

Guidelines – their roles in implementation research and practice.

Presenter:

Dr. Melissa Brouwers, PhD

Professor and Director

Faculty of Medicine, School of Epidemiology and Public Health

Melissa Brouwers is a Professor and Director of the School of Epidemiology and Public Health at UO. As social psychologist by training, one of the hats she has worn for many many years is as the principal of the international AGREE research teams who have focused on creating tools to support the development, reporting and evaluation of the guidance documents.

This session will provide an overview of a program of research in the guidelines field led by AGREE research teams. The social, methodological and scientific issues in guidelines will be explored. In addition, we will debate if the guideline enterprise has gone too far in setting quality expectations that are no longer achievable. We will conclude the session with a discussion of where the field should go to next.
